

FINC 403

Financial Foundations

1 Credit Hour

This course includes basic concepts of the time value of money, discounts cash flows, capital budgeting, debt and equity financing.

FINC 521

Managerial Finance

3 Credit Hours

Students develop an understanding of financial theory necessary to implement effective financial strategies. The course reviews fundamental concepts such as time value and the basics of risk and return. The course explores the valuation of bonds and stocks, strategic investments, and financing decisions, including the cost of capital, capital budgeting, and long-term financial planning.

FINC 577

Special Topics in Finance

3 Credit Hours

The focus of this course is on special topics in finance. The course will be offered as a seminar on a subject of current interest.